EYsailing – Navigating Emotional Cartographies

Workshop description:

The goal of this workshop is to provide an intellectual and creative space to share different ideas and methodologies that can help further exploring the complex relationships that exist between places, maps and emotions.

General idea of the thematic trip, its principles, inspiration or/and ideas.

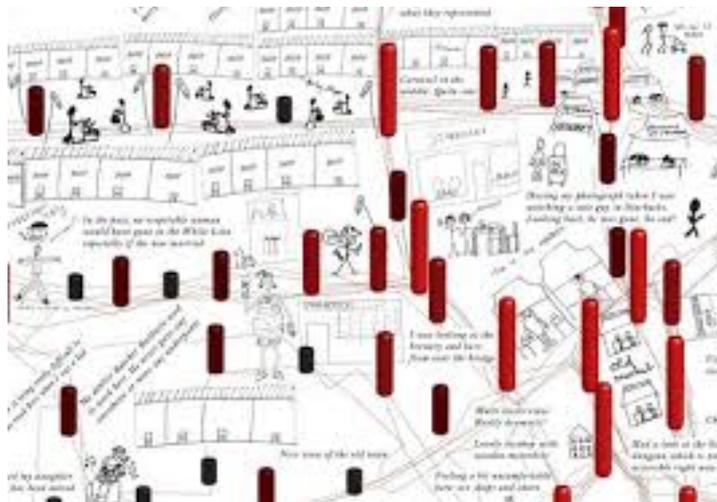

A call for participants for a workshop on Emotional Cartographies that will take place in Greece, June 2017. The goal of this workshop is to provide an intellectual and creative space to share different ideas and methodologies that can help further exploring the complex relationships that exist between places, maps and emotions. The workshop will refer to narrative cartographies, collage making and map drawings by creating a subjective atlas of emotions based on the sailing journey. The creative process will be open without limitations on the media. The creations can be mixed media and the participants will allow their imagination and emotional responses to play with the geographical aspect of the journey.

The workshop derives from psycho geography; an approach to geography that emphasizes playfulness and "drifting" around urban environments. It has links to the Situationist International. Psycho geography was defined in 1955 by Guy Debord as "the study of the precise laws and specific effects of the geographical environment, consciously organized or not, on the emotions and behavior of individuals." Another definition is "a whole toy box full of playful, inventive strategies for exploring cities... just about anything that takes pedestrians off their predictable paths and jolts them into a new awareness of the urban landscape."

AUDIENCE & Course Layout

This workshop aims to bring together generic audience, artists, scholars and students from cartography, geography, the humanities and the arts who are interested in exploring further the relationships between maps, emotions and places. We would like to invite participants interested in discussing and debating any type of relationship between these elements including:

- The theoretical underpinning of mapping emotions;
- The creation of narrative cartographies through creative writing
- Collecting emotional material developed in arts, sciences and the humanities associated with places (e.g. memories, perceptions);
- The practical and creative aspects of mapping emotions and designing mixed media emotional maps
- Collage and Map drawings workshop: based on the real maps of the journey the participants will be called to create imaginative maps and use mixed media techniques.
- Improvised movements in locations based on emotions
